

JEFFRIES ADOPTS A MASCOT; POSES TO SHOW HOW FIT HE IS.

"JEFF" TOSSES THE MEDICINE BALL.

JUST A LITTLE KNOCK.

The intense and early activity of Ohio in moving to prevent the Jeffries-Ruhlin bout suggests a fable. There was a little dog that ran alongside of a fast express train. The dog barked, howled and raised particular mischief—but he didn't help the train along, or stop it. The Ohio dog may have another name, and it may be "politics."

LIPTON'S BOAT THEY'LL SHOOT A SURPRISE. AT CLAY BIRDS.

Many Changes Already Noted in Shamrock II.

GLASGOW, Jan. 31.—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock II, will be a surprise to yachting sharp when they see her. The framework already in position shows that there will be a very marked difference from the boat designed by W. P. Pile.

In fact there is a great divergence from lines which are generally accepted as being fixed quantities by the most expert craftsmen. There was much similarity in the appearance of the first Lipton challenger and the Herreshoff Columbia, but even the merest eye will be able to pick out the English yacht this trip.

What strikes the observer as the most unusual change is that the bulk of the craft is thrown forward to an extent. Instead of the keel line like the shape forward of the keel familiar in racing craft of the past, there is a return to the old shape, but it has now but a

JEFFRIES AND HIS MASCOT.

(Special Correspondence of The Evening World.)

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30.—There are several things about the Jeffries training camp which indicate that the champion is rapidly approaching the condition classed in the vernacular as "pink." It is not alone his vigorous style of exercise that manifests the approach to fighting form, for Jeff always does go into his practice with a vim that is unmistakable.

To see the big fellow hustle the medicine ball about the great pavilion in which he is shifting off flesh is nearly as gratifying as the labors of Armstrong, Delany, Jack Jeffries and Little "Kid" Egan are amusing. The big windbag bounds back from the champion's clutch with the impact of a shell from a large bore rifle.

One of the returns went straight at Egan today and before the "Kid" could protect himself he was nearly carried through the rough temporary wooden wall of the structure.

Jeff dislikes monotony.

Jeff likes change in his work and has devised many changes in the programme to prevent it from becoming irksome. Indoor baseball and the medicine ball are his chief enjoyments, but he seeks relief from monotony in dallying with other muscle-building apparatus. It is his particular delight to key up a rowing machine he has in the gymnasium to a point at which an ordinary man can't move the handles and then sit down to a pull of half an hour or so at the "bars."

"The Los Angeles giant scarcely turns a hair at this stunt now, though he found at first that it was a great game for starting the pounds into rivers and losing weight by the sweat process while hardening what was left."

Mascot Joined the Camp.

Jeff picked up a mascot while on his road job today. Perhaps it is better to say that the mascot picked him up, for that was nearer like it. The great chap is tickled to death over what

JEFF'S SISTER MAY SEE BOUT.

She Will Be in Cincinnati Day of Big Fight.

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Jan. 31.—Jim Jeffries' sister Anna may see the big champion fight Gus Ruhlin in Cincinnati, Feb. 15. She is preparing to leave here on a trip to her old Ohio home, and has arranged her trip that she will be in Cincinnati on the date of the fight.

Miss Jeffries is the only one of the champion's family who has admitted him to his pugilistic prowess. She has never seen a boxing match, and, according to her friends, is determined to see Brother Jim in this fight, even if she has to wear man's attire.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 31.—Jeffries and Ruhlin will spend in Cincinnati today, and the charge of training in Ohio for a boxing match. This is the result of their recent arrest at the instigation of the Sangerfest officials. It is purely a test case.

Want All Road Drivers Out.

A special meeting of the Road Drivers' Association at which all members are requested to be present, will take place at the Rosemont Hotel Saturday night at 8 o'clock sharp. Many important matters will come up for discussion, such as changes in the constitution and bylaws, the question of a motorist's liability, increase in the initiation fee, matters relative to the parade to be held in the Spring, and the question of an open-air horse show later.

BROAD WOULD FIGHT TERRY.

Cleveland Kid Hopes He Will Be McGovern's 'Frisco Opponent.

Kid Broad wants to be Terry McGovern's opponent in 'Frisco next May. He has been in communication with Sam Harris, manager of McGovern, and it is believed an understanding has been reached.

McGovern and his party will arrive in town next Monday. Then, it is expected, arrangements will be completed for Terry's much-talked-of 'Frisco bout.

The Twentieth Century Club of the coast city has offered a $7,000 purse for Terry and an opponent to be selected from the likely lads of the country. Broad hopes he will be selected, but Dave Sullivan, Oscar Gardner and Frank Egan are believed to be under consideration. Any one of them may get the chance to win a big loser's end.

SHARKEY WILL MEET MAHER.

Tom Sharkey and Peter Maher may meet in Louisville next month, after all. Barney Belch, the ex-Sallor's manager, says the match between them has now been clinched and the fight will take place before the Southern A. C. The other day Sharkey denied that he was matched with Maher.

WHITNEY TELLS WHY HE PAID $60,000 FOR HORSE.

Famous Financier and Turfman Talks to The Evening World About the Great Thorough- bred's Blood Lines.

William C. Whitney at his home, 871 Fifth avenue, today told an Evening World reporter of Hamburg, son of Hanover, the most talked of horse in the country.

Mr. Whitney became the owner of the American-bred horse last night. He paid $60,000 for him.

He would not doubt, have paid much more if the auctioneer could have induced the contrary bidding. J. B. Haggin, money never bothers Mr. Whitney when he believes that anything he is buying, dog or real estate, is necessary to his welfare.

Bought for Breeding Stallion.

"Why did I buy Hamburg?" asked the financier in response to a question. "Well," he said, "I bought him chiefly because I wanted him. No, that is a poor answer. I will say that I bought Hamburg because he was a very high and individual type of the American thoroughbred, and I thought he would be a decidedly valuable acquisition to my breeding establishment."

"Was it on your own judgment or were you advised to purchase?"

"My own judgment, surely. I am a student of thoroughbred blood, and in Hamburg I found the purest American line and the most continuous that could be had."

Blood of Champions.

"Through Hamburg I get the blood of three champions of their year, Hamburg himself, Hanover and Hindoo. Then we meet the strain of Virgil, Glencoe and a host of other grand race horses which I cannot recall at this present moment."

"And on the female side there is a long list of famous matrons, including the great Danes family. Hamburg's dam being Lady Reel, a half-sister to the great Domino, whose success in the stud was phenomenal, considering his short service. Now, are there enough reasons why I should have purchased Hamburg?"

"Have you formed any definite idea of the future of Hamburg?"

"I have not. That will entail considerable study of blood lines, for I believe that a great type such as Hamburg should be given the purest of strains on the female side."

To Go to Kentucky.

"In a few days he will go to my Kentucky establishment. I had him removed from the Garden last night as I do not believe the confinement there was doing him any good. I have not seen him yet, but I mean to do so before the day is over. He is now at my stable, 208 East Sixty-sixth street."

That Hamburg has fallen into the best of hands there is no doubt. Mr. Whitney has one of the cleverest breeders in the world to advise him in John E. Madden, who developed Hamburg and sold him to Marcus Daly for $10,000. He also has

FIGHTERS NOT PUT ON TRIAL.

Prosecutor Asks for Delay in Jeffries-Ruhlin Case.

(Special to The Evening World.)

CINCINNATI, Jan. 31.—The trial of Jeffries and Ruhlin, consequent upon their arrest by a constable on a charge of preparing to engage in a prize fight, for this afternoon at 2 o'clock, did not take place today.

County Prosecutor Hoffheimer this morning sent a written request to Judge Relling, before whom the pugilists were to appear, stating that being engaged in a murder trial he could not possibly attend a hearing today, and asking that the case be postponed until Monday.

At noon Mr. Hoffheimer received a reply from the Judge that his request had been complied with and the case reset for next Monday afternoon.

Herman J. White, the legal adviser for the Sangerfest, Athletic Club, and Judge Moses P. Wilson, of the police court, counsel, both said to The Evening World correspondent that the postponement was mutually satisfactory to counsel on both sides.

Whatever the result of the trial before the magistrate it is claimed by persons familiar with the legal issues involved that further arrests will come about and that long-drawn-out court proceedings will consume about every hour of the time between now and the date set for the big contest in Sangerfest Hall. The ground will be fought over inch by inch by the large and brilliant array of legal talent.

Attorney General Sheets said a copy today that Attorney Gustave Ward, of Cincinnati, had told him the prize-fight injunction proceedings would open up a new legal channel. He told Ward that both he and Gov. Nash are anxious to secure an early hearing on the case.

E. G. Cooke, Brady's representative, said at noon that undoubtedly the receipts today for the sale of seats for the contest would bring the total for the fight over to $200,000. Two cases, he said, were better than could have been expected, even without any of the delay in the opening of the part few days. He believed the total receipts would not fall short of $200,000.

At the prospect of the contest, the outlook to be very encouraging.

The sudden drop in temperature was hailed at both the training camps this morning as just the thing wanting to keep the fighters in the best of health. Trainer Delaney has been a little anxious in the face of the prevailing epidemic of grip that the champion might yet feel the debilitating effects, although so far he has not the slightest symptom of it.

FITZ WORKED WITH ROEBER.

Lanky Bob Is Behind Wrestler in Championship Match.

Bob Fitzsimmons is taking a fatherly interest in Ernest Roeber, who is to have his stamina tested in a wrestling bout with Paul Pons at the Garden next Thursday night. Pons is the noted French champion, while Roeber holds the title in America. The result of the bout will therefore come near deciding the world's championship.

Fitzsimmons is backing Roeber in this match, and has on more than one occasion gone to the latter's training quarters to assist the wrestler in his preparations. Lanky Bob put in several hours' work with Roeber yesterday.

Injured Rider Fails to Regain His Senses and May Die.

(Special to The Evening World.)

RACE TRACK, NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31.—There was not a decided drop in the temperature today, but the afternoon was clear and fine and the track fast.

The usual daily handicap was at a mile and seventy yards, and attracted the best field of the afternoon.

Jockey Tully, who fell on Eous in the fifth race yesterday, is in a bad way, and has not yet recovered consciousness. The surgeons at the Charity Hospital say the boy is suffering from concussion of the brain and that they now have grave doubt about his recovery.

J. J. McCafferty sold most of his horses in training here in the paddock before the races today. He acted as his own auctioneer and realized fair prices. Plead brought $75, which was the top price of the sale.
